

Biography

Tiffany Jones

Tiffany has over twenty years experience advising and coaching in the art of leading with confidence and building momentum for successful change. Business leaders call on her expertise when they want an objective and no-nonsense approach to accelerating growth of their business and its leadership.

In her most recent corporate seat as Executive Director at Goldman Sachs, Tiffany worked across the globe to see the build-out of the Pine Street Leadership Development Group, recognised as a standout among institutes developing leaders. Tiffany was responsible for launching the first corporate-led programs on women in leadership, family business and nonprofit leadership in Australia, the latter in partnership with Harvard Business School. She has jointly authored several leadership and team effectiveness models.

Her clients would say the single most important outcome from engagement with Tiffany is confidence. Chief executives and their leadership teams come away with the confidence to effectively apply their learning into business practices. She brings a level of professionalism found in large corporates, scaled to meet the needs of the market in Australia.

Her international portfolio of clients includes AMP, Boston Consulting Group, Bis Industries, Blackrock, CBC, Goldman Sachs, JBWere, JPMorgan, Macquarie, NRMA, Sabre Pacific, Telstra and UBS. Tiffany also provides advice to a select group of Australia's multi-generational families. Additionally, she advises leaders and boards across the nonprofit sector including The Benevolent Society, Chief Executive Women, Foodbank Australia, Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation, and The Council of The King's School.

She is the founder of Momentum Advisory Group and is a regular speaker with The Executive Connection.

Tiffany lives in Sydney with her husband and growing family.
